Positive Behavior Support is the wind in the sails that guide Character Education

Respect Responsibility Honesty Friendship

We are very excited to share that we are merging our Character Education and our Positive Behavior Support teams together to create the SAIL Team. Over the last six years, our building has made vast strides with our Character Education initiatives. Our staff is just beginning to learn about and begin to fully implement a Positive Behavior Support system. Our SAIL Team will consist of staff members from every area of the building as well as parents. We will be adding a few students to the team as well which will allow for the student voice to be heard. While Character Education and PBS share a common purpose and similar traits, PBS takes a more direct and specified approach with regard to a tiered response structure and data-driven approach. It could be said that the character development and the good that goes with a school-wide Character Education process is delivered through the PBS process. Developing and defining school-wide expectations puts everyone on the same page and therefore helps build community. Staff and students have the same expectations- fosters a common language and understanding for how we act within the community.
